User scenario for The Joy of Not Cooking:

The first page the user should see is the homepage. This page predominately features an image gallery and brief testimonials. The navigation bar at the top has four links/ buttons: catering, personal chef, contact, and about. At the bottom of the page there are permanent links to the contact page and the sitemap. If the user clicks on catering, they are brought to page describing brunch, dinner, and special sample menus. Each section has their own photos and the page would scroll. When the user clicks on 'dinner' the page should jump down to that section. The personal chef page lists brunch, dinner, and special pricing. The contact page, has a google form contact form with links to socials. The about page has a photo of Ellen and a brief bio about her and her Joy of Not Cooking business. There is also an external link to Ellen's resume.